Community Child Care is proud to present its new book, SO NOW YOU ARE ON THE COMMITTEE. The book is aimed at all committee members of community-based children's services.

Being part of a management committee can sometimes be overwhelming, with so many responsibilities and issues for members to be aware of.

Essential to working on a children's service management committee is passion for ensuring your service offers great care and education, an interest in good management, the ability to listen, to be fair and... the time to be involved!

So Now You Are On The Committee outlines what a management committee actually does, providing an easy-to-read guide for all those wishing to join a committee, or for those already acting in the role. It's a must-read for management committees and a handy reference for directors, childcare staff and students.
